Our legal system of American jurisprudence is adopted from the English common law system.

Generally, there are two major types of legal proceedings:

CRIMINAL CIVIL

CRIMINAL PROCEEDING

TWO ADVERSARIAL PARTIES:

Criminal Defendant: The defendant commits the crime.

The State of North Carolina/Prosecutor: The prosecutor represents the state and seeks to prove that the defendant committed the crime.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDING

STANDARD OF PROOF:

The defendant must be found guilty "beyond a reasonable doubt".

Δ

CIVIL PROCEEDING

An action brought to enforce, redress or protect private rights.

Civil proceedings are initiated by the filing of a Complaint in civil court and serving the defendant with the Complaint and Summons.

CIVIL PROCEEDING

Two Adversarial Parties:

Plaintiff: The plaintiff is the injured or damaged party. The plaintiff initiates the lawsuit by filing a complaint setting out allegations and a claim for damages within an appropriate statute of limitations period.

Defendant: The defendant is the party "allegedly" responsible for causing the plaintiff's injury or damage.

CIVIL PROCEEDING

STANDARD OF PROOF:

The defendant must be found negligent by the greater weight of the evidence or by the preponderance of the evidence.

CIVIL PROCEEDING

Statutes of Limitations:

The statutory time period within which a lawsuit must be filed or within which certain rights must be enforced or the claim will be barred.

COMMON STATUTORY PERIODS OF LIMITATION- NC

- •Wrongful death action 2 years from the date of death.
- Action involving insane/incompetent person
- 3 years after disability is removed (or guardian appointed)
- Most other actions—3 years

11

APPLICATION OF STATUTES OF LIMITATION

- •Resident "X" gets a medication overdose while in the nursing facility and dies.
- •The heirs of Resident "X" have 2 years within which they may file a "wrongful death" claim in Superior Court.

APPLICATION OF STATUTES OF LIMITATION

- Resident "X" is an adult and develops a pressure ulcer that becomes infected but does not die.
- Resident "X" has 3 years to make a claim for damages.

Overview of the Legal Process

- Plaintiff files a Complaint.
- Defendant files an Answer.
- The parties engage in written and oral "discovery".
 - Interrogatories, Requests for Production of Documents, Admissions, etc.
 - Depositions
- Court-ordered mediation
- Trial

WHAT IS NEGLIGENCE?

The failure to use such care as a reasonably prudent and careful person would use under the same or similar circumstances.

4 ELEMENTS OF NEGLIGENCE

- Duty (standards of practice)
- Breach of duty
- Causation
- Damage

19

DUTY

The defendant has a duty to conform to specific standards of practice or conduct for the protection of the plaintiff against an unreasonable risk of injury.

DUTY

Every health care provider must:
use best judgment in patient care and treatment use reasonable care and diligence and provide health care in accordance with the standards practice among members of the same health care profession with similar training and experience situated in the same or similar communities

21

WHAT ARE "STANDARDS OF PRACTICE"

Often referred to as "standards of care"

THESE STANDARDS ARE OUTLINED IN N.C. GEN. STATS. 90-21.11 & 90-21.12 DEFINITIONS & STANDARD OF HEALTH CARE:

The defendant health care provider shall not be liable for the payment of damages unless the jury finds by the greater weight of the evidence that the care of such health care provider was not in accordance with the standards of practice among members of the

- 1. same health care profession with similar training and experience
- situated in the same or similar communities
- 3. under the same or similar circumstances

at the time at the time of the alleged act and giving rise to the cause of action.

23

FROM WHERE DO THESE "STANDARDS OF PRACTICE" ORIGINATE?

National Guidelines or Recommendations:

CDC

Professional Associations:

APIC, AORN

Facility Policies and Procedures

North Carolina Administrative Code

Federal Regulations

25

Facility Policies and Procedures are GUIDELINES!!

(If policies are not followed, then facility staff must document why policies are not followed.)

4 ELEMENTS OF NEGLIGENCE

- ✓ •Duty (standards of practice)
 - Breach of duty
 - Causation
 - Damage

27

BREACH OF DUTY

- 1. The failure to conform to specific standards of practice.
- The failure to use your best judgment in care and treatment of the patient.
- The failure to provide care in a reasonable and diligent manner.

CAUSATION

The breach of the duty by the defendant must proximately cause the plaintiff's injury.

29

DAMAGE

There must be damage to the plaintiff's person or property to recover for the defendant's negligence.

There can be a breach of duty by the defendant, but if there's no damage, then there is no negligence.

Infection Control Liability

31

EXAMPLES OF HOW THE ICP COULD BREACH THE ACCEPTED STANDARDS OF PRACTICE

- By using an outdated or inappropriate disinfection or sterilization process for disinfecting and sterilizing various equipment in the facility.
- By failing to have a policy for IV tubing changes when there is documented scientific literature to demonstrate that tubing should be changed every 48 to 72 hours.

EXAMPLES OF HOW THE ICP COULD BREACH THE ACCEPTED STANDARDS OF PRACTICE - Continued

- By failing to correctly isolate patients or follow the proper protocol when entering/exiting isolation areas.
- Confidentiality issues, HIPAA.
- Outbreak investigation and proper precautions and isolation, e.g. failure to recognize pattern of problems in a facility thus delaying appropriate precautions and isolation.

33

EXAMPLES OF INFECTION CONTROL LIABILITY – Duty to Inform of Nosocomial Infection

Facilities should inform patients when a nosocomial infection has occurred. Courts have become increasingly insistent that physicians have a duty to disclose fully all pertinent facts concerning their patient's condition, even if the physician is convinced that he or she is acting in the patient's best interest by remaining silent.

This obligation exists regardless of whether the condition is the result of negligence of the facility or an outside provider. Failure to inform patients in such situations may result in liability for fraud, negligence, or conspiracy. Punitive as well as compensatory damages may be awarded in such situations.

EXAMPLES OF INFECTION CONTROL LIABILITY – Duties to Non-Patients

Providers' obligations extend to persons other than their patients. A duty of reasonable care extends to all employees, volunteers, and visitors on the premises. A facility owes an individual who visits during regular visiting hours and remains in those parts of the premises open to visitors a duty of exercising ordinary care.

If a third party develops an infection from a patient because of the facility's negligence, case law has established that damages may be awarded to the third party. Visitors of isolation patients, for example, should be warned of the risk of contracting the disease, and documentation should be made indicating the visitor was so advised.

35

Infection Control Liability Cases

CASE EXAMPLE #1 OF INFECTION CONTROL LIABILITY

- Resident developed several wounds on his right leg. One of the wounds became infected.
- Resident's right leg continued to progressively worsen, leading to an amputation.
- Resident's family filed a lawsuit alleging that the facility's failure to implement proper wound care measures and timely send the resident to an outside provider led to the infection and eventual amputation.

37

CASE EXAMPLE #2 OF INFECTION CONTROL LIABILITY

- A nurse discovered an open wound with purulent drainage and odor in a resident's abdominal fold. Three days later, resident became unresponsive and was sent to the hospital.
- She was diagnosed with MRSA and died approximately a week later due to sepsis.
- Resident's family claimed that facility should have recognized signs and symptoms of infection earlier.

ICP in the News: "Arkansas flu activity still 'very high;' 7 more deaths reported in past week"

February 22, 2024

Seven flu-related deaths were reported in Arkansas over the past week, raising this season's death toll to 55, the state Department of Health reported Thursday.

Twenty-one influenza outbreaks have been reported from nursing homes or other congregate setting institutions this flu season, up from 18 the previous week.

Claims Based on RSV, Influenza, and Covid-19

- Hygiene protocols
- · Isolation procedures
- Mask requirements when levels of respiratory virus spread are increasing
- Surveillance
- Influenza and pneumococcal immunization polices and resident records of immunization status
- · Sick leave policies

41

DHSR Surveys and COVID-19

- The facility failed to prevent an infection control system failure when employees entered the facility by using all 3 entrances which did not have screening stations and accessed resident hallways and common areas without being screened for COVID. (IMMEDIATE JEOPARDY)
- Failure to wear PPE according to facility policy when entering two isolation rooms and failed to wash their hands between the two rooms where residents were under enhanced droplet precautions.
- Failed to put COVID positive residents in separate rooms when separate rooms were available per CDC guidelines and did not follow facility policy for cohorted COVID positive residents on the COVID unit.

COVID-19 Immunity & Takeaways from Land v. Whitley

COVID-19 immunity for health care providers in NC expired on August 15, 2022.

Key takeaways from the Land decision:

- 1. Health care providers are unlikely to obtain a dismissal of the lawsuit before discovery takes place.
- 2. To establish immunity, health care providers must present evidence of how the COVID-19 pandemic impacted each allegation of negligence specifically. A causal link between the pandemic and the plaintiff's care is required.
- 3. Courts will interpret the statute as a "limited immunity".
